Centre for Neuro Skills Announces New Contract with Sedgwick

Dallas, TX (Monday, May 6, 2013) Centre for Neuro Skills (CNS) has partnered with Sedgwick Claims Management Services, Inc., to join Sedgwick's Southwest Medical Provider Network. Effective immediately, CNS' Dallas location will become a network provider for Sedgwick and the thousands of injured workers it represents. Sedgwick, the largest workers' compensation Third Party Administrator (TPA) in the country, specializes in workers' compensation and serves many Fortune 500 companies in Texas.

"This contract improves access to CNS for thousands of injured workers in the state, giving them the opportunity to receive world-class medical treatment and rehabilitation," said CNS founder and CEO Dr. Mark J. Ashley, Sc.D., CBIST.

The nature of brain injury requires treatment that is specific to each patient's case and is administered soon after a traumatic incident. Sedgwick's claims processing systems support the responsiveness needed for best practices in quality rehabilitation.

CNS has provided specialized treatment for people with brain injuries since 1980. Clinical facilities in Bakersfield, Dallas, Los Angeles and San Francisco offer patient-focused programs, including behavior modification, life and work skills training, physical and occupational therapies, educational counseling, and cognitive rehabilitation. CNS Innovations is the company's assisted and supported living program that fosters a return to the rhythm of normal living.
